A. APPROVE THE ROUND 8.1 COOPERATIVE FORECASTS

The Board will be asked to approve Resolution R27-2012, adopting the Round 8.1 Cooperative Forecasts. In February, the Board was briefed on the draft Round 8.1 Cooperative Forecasts of population, households and employment to the year 2040 and approved their use as inputs by the National Capital Transportation Planning Board (TPB) staff in the Air Quality Conformity Analysis of the 2012 Financially Constrained Long-Range Plan (CLRP) and the FY2013 to 2018 Transportation Improvement Program (TIP). The TPB released the results of the Air Quality Conformity Analysis on June 14, 2012, and is scheduled to approve the results and adopt the CLRP and TIP at its July 18 meeting.

RECOMMENDED ACTION: Approve and Adopt Resolution R27-2012

B. APPROVE THE CHAIRMAN'S NOMINATION OF A NEW MEMBER TO SERVE ON THE PENSION PLAN ADMINISTRATIVE COMMITTEE

The Board will be asked to approve Resolution R28-2012, regarding the nomination of Councilmember Valerie Ervin, Montgomery County, to serve on the COG Pension Plan Administrative Committee. There are three COG member slots on the Pension Plan Administrative Committee. One slot is currently vacant following the election defeat of Sheryl Bass, City of Manassas. The Pension Plan Administrative Committee is responsible for advising the COG Board concerning COG's defined benefit pension plan, including investment policy, asset allocation, and plan benefits and contributions.

RECOMMENDED ACTION: Approve and Adopt Resolution R28-2012

C. APPROVE THE CHAIRMAN'S RECOMMENDATION FOR APPOINTMENT OF NEW MEMBERS TO THE COG 2013 LEGISLATIVE TASK FORCE

The Board will be asked to adopt Resolution R29-2012, approving the recommended 2013 Legislative Task Force appointments. In addition to the Board Chair and two Vice Chairs, each of COG's independent policy Board and advisory committees will be asked to appoint a representative. The Task Force will review staff and committee recommendations for COG's 2013 legislative priorities, an important tool to showcase the region's priorities as officials prepare for their 2013 legislative sessions. The COG Board will take action on the recommendation in the fall. Upon adoption, the recommendations will then become part of COG's outreach activities and communication products in early 2013.

RECOMMENDED ACTION: Approve and Adopt Resolution R29-2012

D. APPROVE AMENDMENT OF CONTRACT WITH THE LAW FIRM OF GREEHAN, TAVES, PANDAK & STONER PLLC

The Board will be asked to approve Resolution R30-2012, authorizing the Executive Director, or his designee, to amend the contract with Greehan, Taves, Pandak & Stoner for legal support. The COG Board approved a three-year (FY 2011, FY 2012 and FY 2013) contract in July 2010 following a competitive solicitation. The proposed contract amendment will increase the FY 2013 monthly retainer from $10,000 to $11,000 based on an analysis of COG's requirements for legal support. Funding to support legal expenses is included in COG's FY 2013 indirect cost allocation plan.

RECOMMENDED ACTION: Approve and Adopt Resolution R30-2012

E. APPROVE CONTRACT AND TECHNICAL SUPPORT FOR THE TRI-STATE OVERSIGHT COMMITTEE

The COG Board will be asked to approve Resolution R31-2012, authorizing the Executive Director, or his designee, to amend funding agreements with the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia transportation agencies to support WMATA safety oversight activities of the Tri-State Oversight Committee in FY 2013. The Tri-State Oversight Committee (TOC) is a joint effort of the District of Columbia Department of Transportation, Maryland Department of Transportation, and Virginia Department of Rail and Public Transportation to oversee safety and security at the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA) rail system.

The three state transportation agencies provide annual funding to COG for administrative and contractual support to TOC, principally through a contractual agreement with TRA, Inc. to provide technical safety resources to TOC and other consultant support. COG receives an administrative fee to support its project management and related costs. COG will receive FY 2013 state transportation agency funding in an amount not to exceed $900,000 to support TRA technical and oversight activities and other consultant support. No COG matching funds are required.

RECOMMENDED ACTION: Approve and Adopt Resolution R31-2012

F. APPROVE RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR TO ENGAGE IN CONTRACTS FOR CONSULTANT SUPPORT FOR REGION FORWARD ACTIVITY CENTER STRATEGIC INVESTMENT PLANNING

The Board will be asked to approve Resolution R32-2012, authorizing the Executive Director, or his designee, to execute consulting contracts in an amount not to exceed $90,000 to be used to support work on the Activity Centers and implementation of Region Forward. The project will develop place-based economic development recommendations for Activity Centers designed to support local governments' efforts to enhance, market, and improve activity centers based on physical assets and market strength and to create a range of options for how Activity Centers can support Region Forward. Funding to support this project is included in COG's FY2012 and FY2013 Work Program and Budget as well as from in-kind resources from partner organizations.

RECOMMENDED ACTION: Approve and Adopt Resolution R32-2012

G. APPROVE RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR TO ENTER INTO A PARTNERSHIP AGREEMENT WITH THE EPA WATERSENSE PROGRAM

The Board will be asked to adopt Resolution R33-2012, authorizing the Executive Director, or his designee, to enter into a Partnership Agreement with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Watersense Program to educate and encourage citizens in the National Capital Region to use their drinking water wisely by offering people a simple way to use less water with water-efficient products and services. This program is free; there is not cost to COG.

RECOMMENDED ACTION: Approve and Adopt Resolution R33-2012

Keynote Speakers

Anthony G. Brown is serving his second term as Maryland's Lieutenant Governor. He leads the O'Malley-Brown Administration's work to improve health care throughout Maryland, having helped expand health coverage to over 318,000 Marylanders, half of whom are children, and spearheading efforts to implement President Obama's health care reform law. As chairman of the Governor's Subcabinet on the military base realignment and closure process (BRAC), he successfully led efforts to prepare Maryland for the arrival of 60,000 BRAC-related jobs. He has worked hard to improve benefits and services for Maryland's veterans. Brown has made it a priority to create Maryland jobs and save taxpayer dollars by increasing private investment in public infrastructure projects, such as roads, schools and bridges. Prior to serving as Lt. Governor, Brown represented Prince George's County for two terms in the Maryland House of Delegates, rising quickly to the position of Majority Whip. A Colonel in the United States Army Reserves, Brown is the nation's highest-ranking elected official to have served a tour of duty in Iraq. He is a graduate of Harvard College and Harvard Law School.

David Agnew currently serves as Deputy Assistant to the President and Director of Intergovernmental Affairs. In this role, he oversees the Obama Administration's relationship with state, county, local, and tribal officials across the country. Prior to joining the White House, Agnew was a businessman and community leader in Charleston, South Carolina. He has served as a top deputy to Charleston Mayor Joseph P. Riley Jr., a Special Assistant in the Office of U.S. Secretary of Labor Robert Reich, and a management consultant at Price Waterhouse. Agnew has been active in public affairs and urban policy throughout his career, and has served in leadership roles for numerous non-profit organizations. He received his Master's Degree in Public Policy from Harvard University's Kennedy School of Government. He is a Harry S. Truman Scholar, a European Union Visiting Fellow, and a Liberty Fellow.

Work Session:

Proposed COG Economic Growth and Competitiveness Call to Action

{9:15am-11:15am in Clipper A-B-C}

The COG Board agreed to take-on the pressing issue of economic growth and competitiveness in February as its primary focus for 2012. Building on staff research, best-practices from other regions, and input from "learning sessions" at each monthly Board meeting, retreat participants will discuss and seek consensus on an action plan to be approved and released by the COG Board in the fall.

Work Session:

COG Governance: Time to Take a Fresh Look at How We Move the Region Forward?

{11:30am-12:15pm in Clipper A-B-C}

COG's governance has not been examined for several years. Anticipating a new Executive Director in 2013, is there interest in looking at ways to improve COG's governance and effectiveness in advancing the Region Forward vision plan? Areas for examination may include (1) governance changes to the COG Board, policy/advisory committees, and staff that could help COG be a stronger forum, resource, advocate and catalyst to make Region Forward happen, (2) improved linkages to the work of TPB and MWAQC, (3) stronger State and Federal participation, and (4) opportunities for greater public participation.

Foster
Care
annual report
2011
National Capital
Region

Executive Summary

Each year the Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments (COG) surveys child welfare systems who are members of COG in the national capital region to collect data, analyze findings, and discover trends occurring in foster care.

COG members in the national capital region are the District of Columbia, Frederick, Montgomery, Prince George's and Charles Counties and the Cities of Bowie, College Park, Gaithersburg, Greenbelt, and Takoma Park in Maryland, as well as Arlington, Fairfax, Loudoun, and Prince William Counties and the Cities of Alexandria, Fairfax, Falls Church and Manassas and Manassas Park in Virginia. However, child welfare services are primarily administered at the county-level, with the exception of the City of Alexandria. Therefore, the following jurisdictions are included in this report: the District of Columbia, Frederick, Montgomery, Prince George's and Charles Counties in Maryland, and Arlington, Fairfax, Loudoun, Prince William Counties, and the City of Alexandria in Virginia.

The 2011 survey focused on the following aspects of child welfare/foster care in the region:

- Child Protective Services Call Volume
- Children in Foster Care
- Prevention Programs and Fostering Connections
- Demographics of Children in Foster Care
- Placement
- Recruitment
- Permanency and Emancipation

The findings of the 2011 survey included:

- A decline in the overall number of children in the foster care system, as well as a one percent decrease in new entries from 2010.
- Seven out of ten children in foster care in the region are African American.
- Teenagers (11 years and above) continue to be overrepresented in the foster care system, and experience longer stays in the system.
- Lower adoption rates across the region, but an increased focus on kinship care.
- Steady rate of emancipation in the past four years with a quarter of foster youth exiting the system without permanency. Twenty-six percent of youth left foster care without permanency in 2011.

Child Protective Services Call Volume

In 2011, Child Protective Services (CPS) programs in the national capital region received a total of 60,072 calls alleging child maltreatment. Although a portion of the calls come from concerned citizens, family members or relatives of the children in question, the vast majority of calls were made by mandated reporters, i.e., police, health care practitioners, school or daycare personnel.

Most states have statutory requirements related to abuse and neglect reports. The CPS hotline workers must make a determination if the report meets the criteria for acceptance. In most States the report must involve harm to a child committed by a parent or person responsible for their care, the child must be between the ages of 0-18, and the allegation must rise to the level of abuse or neglect as defined in the jurisdiction. Reports that do not meet the statutory requirements are screened out. Many of these callers receive supportive services through differential response, also known as dual tract or alternative response, which allows CPS to recognize the variation in the types of child abuse and neglect complaints and utilize more than one method for responding to those complaints.

Analysis of the total number of calls received in 2011 indicates CPS accepted 20,039 reports of alleged child maltreatment for investigation. A smaller number of 5,709 requests did not meet the criteria for investigation, but received supportive services through differential response.

In traditional child welfare practice, caseworkers responded to referrals by initiating an investigation. CPS continues to use traditional investigations for reports of sexual abuse and repeated cases of physical abuse. The practice of differential response, however, is typically employed with low and moderate risk cases that did not meet the safety threshold for an investigation. Instead, families are offered voluntary, community services to enhance their parenting capacity.

Jurisdictions in Virginia and the District of Columbia (as of September 2011) implemented differential response programs. In 2011, Maryland jurisdictions did not have a differential response program although proposed legislation has been offered over the last several years¹.

¹ HB 34, entitled Child Abuse and Neglect – Alternative Response, passed and will be enacted as law effective July 1, 2012. Maryland may implement a differential response program after July 1, 2013 following a year of study and implementation planning.

Children in Foster Care

In 2011, the region's foster care systems had fewer new entries, totaling 1,249 children (regionally, thirty-four percent of children in foster care were new entries). As compared to 2010, new entries decreased by one percent during 2011. This is also the first year that data from Charles County, Maryland has been included in this regional study.

The total number of children in foster care, as calculated by the number of children in the system on the last day of the year (December 31, 2011) was 3,816. The number of children in Foster Care has been declining since 2008. This trend is also consistent with national figures.

Nationally, there has been a four percent decrease in the number of children in foster care. The number decreased from 423,773 in 2009 to 408,425 in 2010. The number of new entries also saw a slight decrease nationwide from 255,418 in 2009 to 2010 with 254,375.² Programs emphasizing prevention contributed to the reduction of the overall number of children in area foster care systems.

Prevention Programs and Fostering Connections

Prevention programs engage parents to address issues that may lead to future reports of abuse and neglect. Regional foster care systems are utilizing these methods in cases that lack immediate danger and/or trauma.

There are a number of prevention methods being utilized by agencies throughout the region. Some may employ Family Group Conferencing/Meeting or Intensive Coordinated Services (ICC). These approaches result in referrals made to nurturing parenting programs, alcohol and drug services, mental health services and home-based services. Family Preservation Services (FPS) is another program that connects families that are low-risk to voluntary services through referrals. The District of Columbia utilizes community-based, non-profit neighborhood collaborates to connect families to service-based resources within their wards.

Prevention services are tailored to address each family's issues and prevent abuse and neglect from occurring. Families who receive these preventive referral services are not considered active investigations, or open cases.

Foster Care assistance for older youth in school

The overall decrease in the number of children in the foster care system regionally could also be attributed to aggressive efforts to achieve permanency through kinship and other family support programs. Many of these efforts are supported by the Fostering Connections to Success and Increasing Adoptions Act of 2008, also referred to as Fostering Connections.³ The goal of this legislation is to promote permanency through increased support, health services, educational stability and direct access to federal resources. It also provides monetary resources to support relatives who become legal guardians of foster children and foster care assistance for older youth (up to age 21) who are enrolled in school or active in the workforce and/or other related activities.

³ Fostering Connections to Success and Increasing Adoptions Act of 2008, Bill 110-351. www.fosteringconnections.org.

Demographics of Children in Foster Care

In 2011, the vast majority of young people in foster care, seven out of ten, across jurisdictions in the region were African American. The majority of these young people are also over the age of eleven. The survey revealed that older children (young people 11 years and older) comprise sixty three percent of children in foster care, and African American youth above the age of 11 comprise seventy-four percent of children in foster care in the region. Three percent of children fall in the other category. For the purpose of this study, "other" is defined as a racial makeup other than Hispanic, Caucasian/Non-Hispanic, Black/African American, Asian, Native Hawaiian, Pacific Islander, and two or more races.

During 2011, the length of stay fluctuates for different age groups; however, teenagers experienced a longer stay in the foster care system. On average, children 10 years old or younger have shorter stays, while "tweens" and teens (age 11 and above) remain in the foster care system with length of time increasing as they get older.

Overrepresentation

While the overall number of children in the foster care system has declined, in 2011 African American children and youth were involved with the foster care system at disproportionately higher rates. Older African American youth comprised the highest percentage at seventy-four percent. Seven out of ten children waiting to be adopted are African American.

The map on the following page demonstrates the disparity between the percentages of African Americans in the general population (of all ages) compared to the percentage of African American children (between the ages of 0-21) in foster care across the region. The choropleth color radiation represents the percentage of African Americans in the overall population within each jurisdiction. The size of the yellow circles indicates the percentage of African American children in foster care per jurisdiction.

Jurisdictions with higher percentages of African Americans in the overall population have higher numbers of African American children in foster care. However, high percentages of African American children in foster care remain consistent in jurisdictions, with less than ten percent of African Americans in the general population.

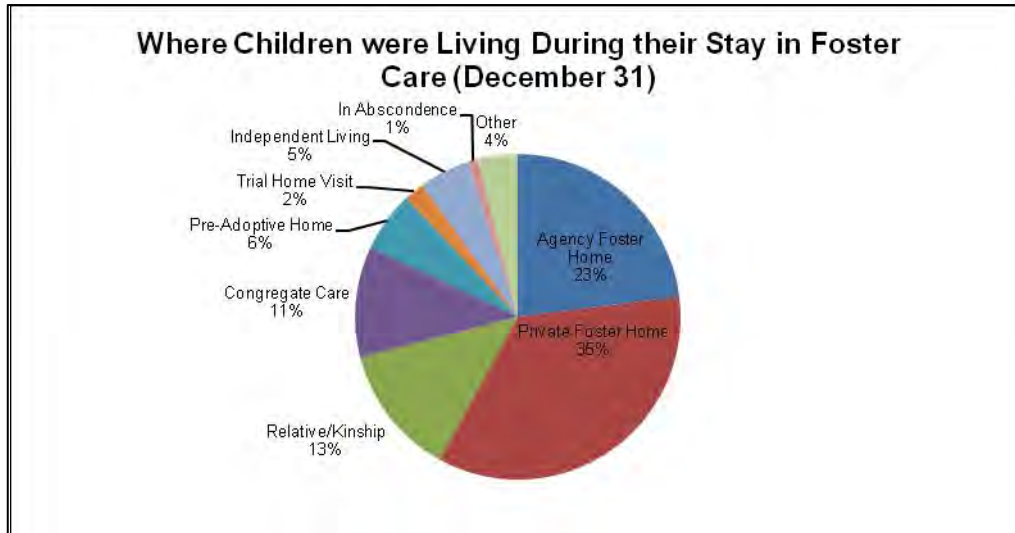

Counties and cities are addressing the disparity between African American children in foster care and the African American general population in various ways. One jurisdiction conducted a county-specific study of the dis-proportionality to uncover where the issues lie. This jurisdiction then created multi-disciplinary teams to lead focus groups with community members and social workers.

Percentage of African American Children in Foster Care Compared to Regional African American Population

Placement

More than half the children (fifty-eight percent) in foster care were living in an agency foster home or a private foster home within their home jurisdiction. During 2011, there was an increased focus on kinship care with thirteen percent of children in foster care living with a relative. Overall regionally there was less use of congregate care and efforts were focused on placing children in family-based settings. Congregate care, often residential care or group care facilities, are more costly to jurisdictions and often lack permanent long-term outcomes.

Where were youth living on 12/31/2011 (PERCENTAGE)
Jurisdiction	Inside Jurisdiction		Outside Jurisdiction
	With Relative	Without Relative	With Relative	Without Relative
District of Columbia	25%	10%	12%	53%
Charles County	17%	59%	9%	15%
Frederick County	25%	35%	1%	39%

Loudoun County	0%	39%	6%	55%
Prince William County	2%	73%	6%	19%
Regional Averages	12%	41%	7%	40%

In 2011, the majority of children, fifty three percent, were placed within their home jurisdiction. Placing children in their home jurisdiction is less disruptive and helps maintain stability. Of the forty-seven percent of children living outside of their jurisdiction, seven percent were living with a relative. Twelve percent of children living within their jurisdiction were placed with a family member.

Recruitment

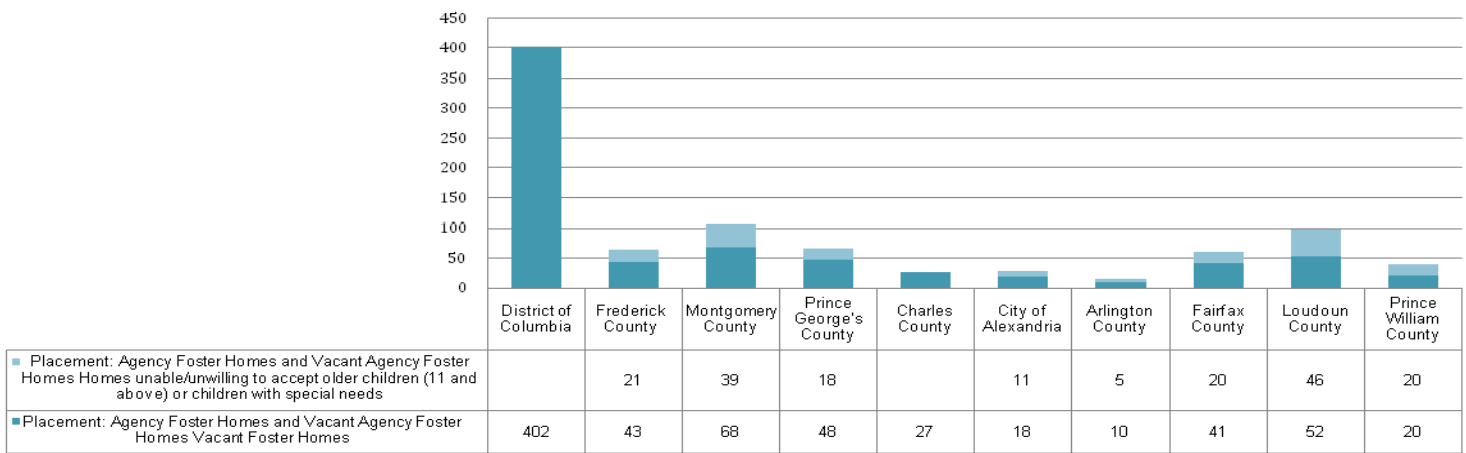

The 2011 survey indicated the region had 1,362 agency foster homes on December 31, 2011. This is twenty-seven percent more homes than 2010, and thirty nine percent fewer homes than 2009 and 2008.

Agency foster homes, also known as resource homes, are recruited by the local child welfare agencies and are usually located within the jurisdiction. For instance, a Prince George’s County agency foster home or resource home is located within Prince George’s County. Private foster homes are contracted (paid) homes normally outside of the jurisdiction. For example, an Arlington County private foster home or resource home is located outside of Arlington County to receive placement of Arlington County children through contract. Agency foster homes are usually more cost effective, and allow jurisdictions direct involvement in recruitment and oversight of the home and the children placed there.

Agencies across the region recruited 1,498 new parents to become agency foster home providers. All jurisdictions are focused on recruiting homes for teenagers and children with moderate to severe medical needs. Local jurisdictions utilize a range of recruitment strategies, including:

- The Freddie Mac Foundation Wednesday’s Child program (coordinated by COG)
- The Annual Freddie Mac Foundation Adoption Expo
- Community events and county fairs Health fairs

Agency Foster Homes and Vacant Foster Homes

*Count as of December 31, 2011/ Reasons for vacancy were unavailable for DC and Charles County

On the last day of the year (December 31) fifty-four percent of agency foster homes were vacant. Contributing factors to vacancy rates can vary from medical reasons, the family needing respite time before another placement or additional people may have moved in the home after completion of the home study. Twenty five percent of vacant homes were due to families being unable or unwilling to accept older children (11 years old and above) and/or children with special needs. Families that desire to only adopt or request short-term placements may also impact their ability to accept teens or children with special needs.

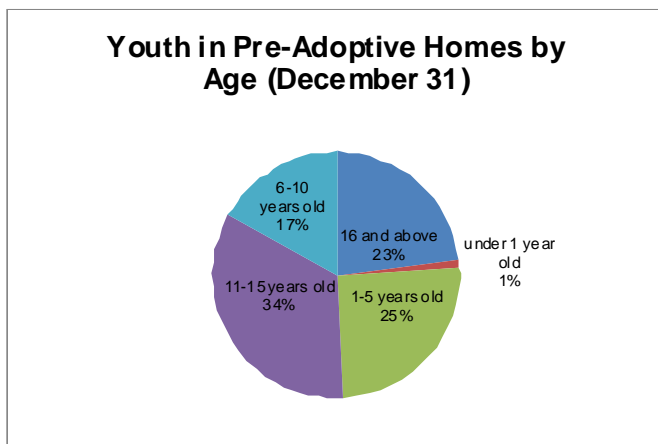

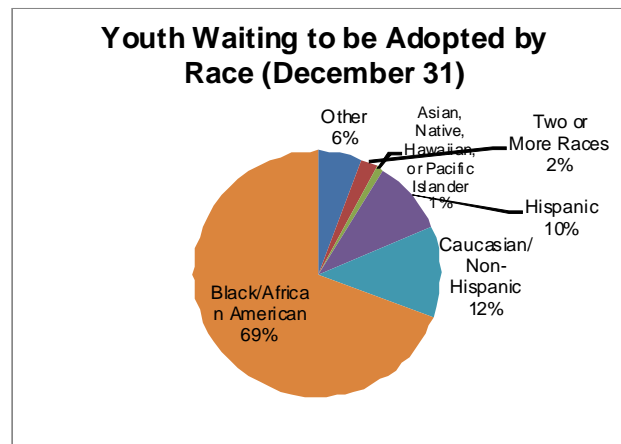

Snapshot:

Waiting Children and Children in Pre-Adoptive Homes

Once children enter foster care, the priority is for them to achieve permanency. The initial permanency goal is reunification with the birth families. The second permanency goal is guardianship by a relative or existing foster parent. The third permanency goal is adoption. The final goal is Another Planned Permanency Living Arrangement, also known as APPLA or Another Planned Permanency Living Arrangement.

An adoption plan is pursued if reunification is not an option, relatives are unable to care for the child and the child agrees, at the age of consent, to an adoption plan. The age of consent in Maryland is 10 years-old, while the age of consent in the District and Virginia is 14 years-old. Children waiting to be adopted are those with an adoption plan who do not have a resource match. Children in pre-adoptive homes are those who have been matched with an adoptive family and are placed in the home awaiting finalization.

Results from the 2011 survey indicate that children 11 years-old and above were the highest percentage of children waiting to be adopted. Yet, more than half of the children in pre-adoptive homes were children 10 years-old and under.

Permanency and Emancipation

Seventy-four percent of children in foster care achieved permanency in 2011. Permanency may be reunification, guardianship, or adoption. For the purposes of this report, Another Planned Permanency Living Arrangement or APPLA is not considered a permanency goal, but rather as permanency unachieved.

Permanency through reunification, guardianship or adoption has been a consistent trend over the last four years. Fifty-seven percent of children achieved permanency through reunification and eighteen percent found a forever family through adoption. Since 2008, the region has seen higher reunification rates in comparison to adoption rates. As part of efforts to engage families, support services are available to birth families. These services include:

- parent coaching
- financial assistance
- housing assistance
- addictions treatment
- along with general case management

As previously mentioned, for the purposes of this report, APPLA is not considered a permanency goal, but rather permanency unachieved. Although jurisdictions attempt to identify lifelong connections or connect youth with positive role models or kin, it is very commonplace for youth with a goal of APPLA to leave the foster care system without a permanent home. This process is commonly referred to as emancipation or aging out. Youth emancipation trends also continued to be consistent for the past four years. On average, a quarter of children in foster care aged out of the system without permanency. In 2011, there was a small increase with twenty-six percent of youth leaving foster care without permanency.

“ We successfully reunified a sibling group of 8 children with their parents after they were in foster care for two years. The children were split up between three different family members. The worker successfully engaged with the childrens’ father who was very mistrustful and suspicious of the Department and our intentions. The childrens’ mother had previously been peripherally engaged but maintained a relationship with the childrens’ father and was not completely engaged because he would not engage. By working with all the extended family and respecting the family and reaching out to the father and slowly establishing rapport and a working relationship with him, things turned around and the children were eventually able to be reunified with their parents who lived in a remote and very rural area of the county. ”
- Social Worker

“ A young person on my caseload received his Associates in Science Degree from Northern Virginia Community College in December 2011. He is currently pursuing a Bachelors of Arts in Criminal Justice at George Mason University. He has expressed an interest in working for the CIA Uniformed Division (police officers/security guards for the White House), and continues to benefit from the Educational Training Voucher program, which assists with educational expenses. He also completed an internship at the Asia America Initiative (AAI) during his last year in foster care. AAI partners with other Non Governmental Organizations (NGO’s) to provide humanitarian relief throughout the Asia Pacific region. At the time of his transition from foster care, he was employed part-time by St. Mortiz Security Service earning $12 per hour. Although, reunification was not achieved in this case, his goal is to eventually file for his mother and sister to be able to come into the United States (they live in Pakistan) once he is settled and established. The young person’s relationship with his biological father is strained and he has minimal contact with him. It should be noted that the young person and his older brother were removed from biological father’s care due to neglect. He and his brother reside in the same apartment building, and stay in close contact during this transition from foster care. ” - Social Worker

Building Security Improvements

New Building Tenant IDs

- All building tenants are being issued new building access cards that have photo printed directly onto the card.
- New IDs are currently being prepared and tested. IDs will be delivered by tenants by the end of July.
- Effective August 1, 2012, building tenants are required to display a valid building photo ID at all times. Security guards will ask to see a valid building photo ID before allowing entrance to the elevator lobby.

Visitor Registration

- Effective August 1, 2012, visitors and vendors to the building will be required to sign in to the visitor registration system, Lobby Guard. Visitors may scan their government issued ID or manually type their information into Lobby Guard. Visitors must display their visitor badge at all times while in the building. Security guards will ask to see a valid visitor badge before allowing entrance to the elevator lobby.
- Visitors to COG should plan to arrive 10-15 minutes before their scheduled meeting start time to allow for registration with Lobby Guard.
- COG staff that support large events with many visitors may pre-print visitor badges and distribute them to guests as they arrive in the main lobby.

COG VIP Cards

- COG will provide a COG VIP Card to elected officials that are members of COG's primary policy boards. COG VIP cardholders will be able to use the card to identify themselves to garage attendants and to building security. Cardholders will not need to register with Lobby Guard; instead they will present the card to building security in order to proceed to the elevator lobby. Cardholders who do not have their COG VIP Card with them will be required to register with Lobby Guard.
- COG VIP Cards are currently being printed and will be delivered to staff one week before their policy board's scheduled meeting in July.

Building Elevator Changes

- Effective August 1, 2012 programming changes will be made to the building elevators. The elevator to the garage will stop at the main lobby and will not go up to the other floors. Persons riding the elevator up from the garage will exit at the lobby. Building tenants with their building ID and those with COG VIP Cards will display these to the security guards for access to the other elevators that go up to the other floors in the building. Other visitors and vendors will be required to sign in with Lobby Guard in the main lobby area before being allowed access to the elevators that go up to the other floors.

Experience from Main Lobby

1. If not a building tenant or COG VIP, then register with Lobby Guard.
2. Show building ID, COG VIP Card, or visitor badge to security in order to access elevators.
3. Proceed to meeting space on 1st, 2nd, or 3rd floor.

Experience from Garage

1. Exit elevator at main lobby.
2. Building tenants and COG VIP may show ID to security guard in order to access elevators. All others must proceed into main lobby to register with Lobby Guard before returning.
3. Proceed to meeting space on 1st, 2nd, or 3rd floor.

Mr. Frank J. Principi
Chairman, COG Board of Directors
777 North Capitol Street, NE, Ste. 300
Washington, D.C. 20002

Dear Chairman Principi:

Thank you for your email to Governor Martin O'Malley regarding the allocation of Maryland's share of the national Attorneys General Settlement Funds, including your support for nonprofit housing counseling. The Governor has received your email and asked that I respond on his behalf.

The O'Malley/Brown Administration recognizes the key role of nonprofit housing counselors in helping Maryland families stay in their homes. We know first-hand that housing counseling works. Since launching the Maryland HOPE initiative in 2007, we have developed partnerships with thirty-five housing counseling agencies and seven legal-services providers. Our nonprofit legal partners have recruited more than 1,250 pro bono lawyers as a complimentary and critical resource for consumers.

In 2010, the Mediation Act was passed which included the creation of the Maryland Housing Counseling Fund, a dedicated fund for the support of counseling, legal and mediation services. The O'Malley/Brown Administration has invested more than $10 million in housing counseling since 2007, assisting more than 70,000 consumers.

The national settlement gives Maryland an important opportunity to expand our efforts on behalf of the many Maryland families and neighborhoods that have been hurt by foreclosure crisis. Representatives from the Governor's Office, the Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation, and the Department of Housing and Community Development are working closely with the Maryland Attorney General's Office and other stakeholders to recommend a strategic plan for use of settlement funds, one that builds upon the existing assets that we have in place.

Thank you once again for your valuable advice. The Governor appreciates hearing from you. If I may be of further assistance on this or any other matter, please do not hesitate to contact me or Ms. Carol Gilbert, Assistant Secretary, at 410-514-7229 or via email at gilbert@mdhousing.org.

Sincerely,

Raymond A. Skinner

1. CALL TO ORDER AND PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

Chairman Principi called the meeting to order at 12:00 p.m. and led those present in the Pledge of Allegiance.

2. CHAIRMAN'S ANNOUNCEMENTS

Foster Parent Appreciation Gala and 20th Anniversary Salute to Wednesday's Child. The Chairman thanked Board members and other regional officials who joined him at the Gala Dinner-Dance on Saturday, June 9, to honor our outstanding Foster Parents of the Year and to salute the 20th Anniversary of the Wednesday's Child program. He said in honoring the success of Wednesday's Child, we showed the power of the partnership between Freddie Mac, COG and NBC4. The foster parents' stories were truly inspiring and again demonstrated the worth of this program for COG and its member jurisdictions. He congratulated the COG staff who planned the event, including Kamilah Bunn, Carette Rogers, Paul DesJardin and, of course, our Executive Director, Dave Robertson. It was a fabulous evening. It was noted that a video will soon be available to jurisdictions for viewing each of the families supported by the Wednesday's Child program.

Annual Retreat. Once again it is time for one of the Board’s most important activities of the year-- the COG 2012 Leadership Planning and Work Session to be held this year on July 20 and 21. Chairman Principi remarked that while this event only lasts about a day and a half, it is designed to help Board members set the course of the coming year in terms of our policy focus and priorities. He emphasized the importance of participation in this event by all of COG’s principal boards and committees. The invited speakers promise to be stimulating, and most importantly, this is an opportunity to engage fellow COG leaders in detailed discussion about what Board members want to achieve for the National Capital Region next year. He encouraged them to mark their calendars for Friday, July 20 through Saturday, July 21 and to join in the COG retreat at the Hyatt Regency Chesapeake in Cambridge, Maryland.

Executive Director Search. Next, the Chairman noted that there will be an Executive Session at the end of today’s meeting to focus on our search for a new executive director. Jim Mercer, President of The Mercer Group, will be on hand to discuss what characteristics we should seek in a new Executive Director for COG and what issues COG is facing that the new Executive Director also will face. He believes strong input from the Board is needed in this process and that selection of a new Executive Director is one of the Board’s primary responsibilities to appoint a well-qualified executive director to manage this valuable organization of over 130 employees and a budget of $26 million.

Recognition of an Outgoing Board Member. The Chairman recognized Sheryl Bass (City of Manassas), who will be leaving the Board at the end of June. She is currently serving as a Vice-President of COG, and she also has served as our Secretary-Treasurer. It was his pleasure to present her with a Certificate of Appreciation for her outstanding qualities of leadership and an abiding commitment to the Council of Governments and the people of the region as shown during her term as a Member of the Board of Directors from April 2010 through June 2012. Councilmember Bass responded that it has been a privilege to serve on this Board for the last two years. She learned a great deal, made many friends, and was pleased to assist with the work of COG. A photograph was taken to mark the occasion. Board members wished her well in her new endeavors.

3. EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR’S REPORT

Outreach/Media

The COG Outreach Report and the COG Media Report, both dated June 13, 2012, were provided to Board Members along with the COG Events Calendar. Dave Robertson touched on the highlights, including the Brookings water report, the Freddie Mac Foundation’s transition plan, a Region Forward initiative with the Washington Regional Association of Grantmakers, and brought the Board up to date on the D.C. Council’s pending action on the 2012 Blue Plains Intermunicipal Agreement.

Information and Follow Up

A copy of the Brookings Institution’s study on Cleaner Rivers for the National Capital Region: Sharing the Cost was provided to Board Members. The report states that “D.C. Water, formerly the D.C. Water and Sewer Authority (WASA), has embarked on a 20-year, $2.6 billion Clean Rivers Project to nearly eliminate sewage discharged into area waterways.” Funding matters for this project must be addressed and Brookings recommended that D.C. Water and COG “convene a regional coalition to discuss options to pay for the Clean Rivers Project in the context of other water quality mandates in the region.”

Dave Robertson introduced COG's new Chief Financial Officer, Paul Beriault, to the Board of Directors, commenting on his extensive background in finance and accounting. Paul Beriault responded that he was pleased to be a part of COG and looking forward to learning more about the organization.

Letters Sent and/or Received

For the Board's information, Mr. Robertson referred to the letter sent on May 23 to Carl Levin, Chair of the Senate Armed Services Committee, urging the Committee to amend the National Defense Authorization Act of 2013 (H.R. 4310) to allow the Department of Defense to explore alternative fuel options. COG's Climate, Energy and Environment Policy Committee states its case for developing domestically produced alternative fuels.

4. AMENDMENTS TO AGENDA

There were no amendments to the agenda.

5. APPROVAL OF MINUTES

The minutes of the April 11, 2012, Board Meeting were approved and adopted, as amended, and the minutes of the May 9, 2012, Board Meeting were approved and adopted. Board Members who were absent from the meetings abstained from the vote.

6. ADOPTION OF CONSENT AGENDA ITEMS

Supplemental documents: R22-2012 through R26-2012

A. RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR TO EXECUTE A CONTRACT WITH THE DISTRICT DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT (DDOE) FOR THE POPE BRANCH POST-CONSTRUCTION RESTORATION MONITORING PROJECT

Resolution R22-2012 authorizes the Executive Director, or his designee, to submit a proposal and execute a contract with DDOE to perform physical aquatic habitat, water quality, and macro invertebrate samplings in order to evaluate post-stream-restoration project success in the Pope Branch watershed and to prepare a final report summarizing results and recommendations from the monitoring effort. The project duration is 4 years from the date of contract execution. The amount of the contract shall not exceed $150,000, $130,000 of which is to be funded by DDOE and a total cash match of $20,000 is to be provided by COG from budgeted and planned COG urban watershed program funds, payable $5,000 per year for fiscal years 2013 to 2016.

Since the May 9 Board Meeting, the COG proposal was submitted to DDOE, and COG has received a contract which reflects the terms and conditions as presented at the last COG Board Meeting. The contract is now going through the COG review process prior to execution by the Executive Director.

B. RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR TO ACCEPT AND EXPEND GRANT FUNDS FROM THE NATIONAL FISH AND WILDLIFE FOUNDATION TO SUPPORT IMPLEMENTATION OF AN ANACOSTIA STORM WATER BIORETENTION PROJECT.

Resolution R23-2012 authorizes the Executive Director, or his designee, to accept and expend grant funding in an amount not to exceed $175,000 from the National Fish and Wildlife Federation for the purpose of developing and implementing a storm water bioretention facility and associated educational signage at the Langston Golf Course/National Park Service Kenilworth Gardens in the Anacostia watershed. Duration of the grant is through September 2013. No matching COG funds are required. This will expand upon an existing successful partnership between COG, the Anacostia Watershed Restoration Partnership, and the National Park Service in their efforts to manage storm water, a major factor in the Anacostia River's water quality.

Since May 9, COG's Executive Director has accepted and received grant funds not exceeding $175,000 from the National Fish and Wildlife Federation.

C. RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR TO ENTER INTO A CONTRACT TO PROCURE AND IMPLEMENT NEW ASSOCIATION MANAGEMENT SOFTWARE

Resolution R24-2012 authorizes the Executive Director, or his designee, to enter into a contract not to exceed $230,000 with the selected vendor, Association Management Software (AMS), for software procurement and implementation services. Additionally, the Executive Director, or his designee, is authorized to enter into hosting and support agreements with the vendor for an initial contract period not to exceed 5 years. This is specialized software used by membership associations to manage their membership contact information and membership engagement. COG wishes to provide enhanced member services on a software platform that improves the frequency and ease of member communication, reduces duplicate systems records management, streamlines committee support tasks, and allows for new cost-recovery event hosting. The software will also provide information to the COG website and integrate video recordings of board and committee meetings. On April 11, 2012, the COG Board of Directors authorized the release of a Request for Proposals from companies that sell and service AMS. A Technical Selection Committee conducted interviews with several companies and selected the finalist. The approved COG Work Program and Budget for fiscal years 2012 and 2013 includes $320,000 in the Capital Repair and Replacement Plan to fund the AMS project. A more detailed memorandum on the benefits and funding of the Association Management Software was included in the Board Meeting packet.

D. RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING COG TO ISSUE A CONTRACT TO DEVELOP A BUSINESS INTEGRATION IMPLEMENTATION PLAN FOR THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Resolution R25-2012 authorizes the Executive Director, or his designee, to receive and expend up to $120,000 to develop and write a Business Integration Implementation Plan that will assist the DC Homeland Security and Emergency Management Agency to leverage products and support of the Washington Regional Threat and Analysis Center (WRTAC) and the District of Columbia City-Wide All-Hazards Fusion Center, with funding for this effort to be provided through a subgrant from the State Administrative Agent (SAA). No COG matching funds are required.

ACTION: Upon motion duly made and seconded, Resolutions R22-2012 through R25-2012 were unanimously approved and adopted by the COG Board of Directors.

7. APPROVE “REGION FORWARD 2012 BASELINE REPORT”

The Board was asked to review and approve the Region Forward Coalition’s Region Forward 2012 Baseline Report for action by the COG and TPB policy and technical committees and other stakeholder organizations. Eric C. Olson, Vice Chair, Prince George’s County, and Chairman, Region Forward Coalition, reported that during April the Coalition members approved the first Region Forward 2012 Baseline Report, which measures our region’s success in attaining the 28 goals, targets, and indicators of Region Forward.

Olson recommended that area leaders on the COG Board reexamine relevant policies, programs, and leadership structures and consider innovative solutions to the major challenges identified in the report. In addition to the progress report, the Region Forward Coalition will soon complete the first comprehensive update to COG’s regional activity centers map in a decade. The data from the progress report and new activity centers map will be used by local governments, COG, Transportation Planning Board, WMATA, the National Capital Planning Commission, and other groups to shape local and regional planning actions.

Paul DesJardin, Director, Department of Community Planning and Services, presented an overview of the Report, providing a copy of slides that detailed the assessment of COG’s progress to date, thus establishing a baseline for progress in future reports. DesJardin reported that this Baseline Report will be updated every three to four years, and it is a tool for residents and leaders to understand where progress has or has not been made to meet regional goals. With 28 targets divided into four categories, i.e., accessibility, sustainability, prosperity, and livability, and four challenge levels that are based on the extent of changes to existing policies, programs, or processes to reverse trends and/or achieve each target, the targets and data in the report covered the region as a whole. Region Forward is designed to foster regional cooperation for identifying and solving the National Capital Region’s most pressing challenges. Of the 28 targets in Region Forward, the report classifies seven as major challenges—smart growth development, transportation infrastructure, housing in the region’s activity centers, waterway health, greenhouse gas reductions, agricultural land preservation, and affordable housing. Following are the goals set to meet these challenges:

Beginning in 2012, the goal in Smart Growth was set to capture 75% of the square footage of new commercial construction and 50% of new households in Regional Activity Centers.

Transportation System Management and Performance requires additional funding to meet the management, performance, maintenance, and safety needs of the system. A majority of CLRP funding is dedicated to operation and maintenance, but additional funding will be necessary to meet management, performance, and safety needs of the system.

Housing in Activity Centers stands at 18% of the region’s subsidized housing units, and beginning in 2012, the goal will be to have at least 80% of new or preserved units located in Regional Activity Centers.

The goal to reduce regional Greenhouse Gas emissions by 20% in 2020 and 80% by 2050 will position the region as a contributor to reducing global greenhouse gas emissions.

Waterway Health. Only 8% of watersheds are in good or excellent condition in the region. The goal is to have 50% of all sentinel watersheds in good or excellent condition by 2050.

Agricultural Land. Beginning in 2012, the region will maintain more than 450,000 acres of agricultural land in farms. The region currently has more than 450,000 acres of agricultural land, but thousands of acres are lost every year.

Affordable Housing Base. Beginning in 2012, the region will maintain a minimum of 10% of affordable housing stock for households earning less than 80% of the regional median income. Currently, about 5% of the region's housing is subsidized affordable. Meeting the target as the region grows, however, will require significant housing production, as well as aggressive efforts to preserve existing subsidized housing.

A copy of Mr. Olson's Memorandum to the Board of Directors and copies of the full Region Forward 2012 Baseline Report, the presentation slides, and a two-page FAQs sheet are available on the COG website.

Council Member Drzyzgula (City of Gaithersburg) commented that Region Forward is a regional effort, but actual implementation will be done by each jurisdiction. It might be helpful to include a list of the jurisdictions and contact persons in the report.

Board Member Chris Zimmerman (Arlington County) commented that Bike to Work Day on May 18 in the metropolitan Washington region was quite a success. The event, sponsored by COG's Commuter Connections Program, was well covered by the media, and the program broke its all-time record with 12,700 participants at 58 pit stops throughout the region. With approximately 15% of the population here biking to work, he thought that was probably a better showing than many other places in the country.

Chris Zimmerman expressed an interest in hearing more about the Region Forward Activity Centers. Referring to the Activity Map in the Region Forward report, Dave Robertson added that there will be a session at the COG Annual Retreat on July 20 and 21 on this topic to make sure the plan is sound. Then Members can go back to their governing councils to get everyone on board with this program. Federal and state buy-in of this program is needed as well, and that will be addressed.

ACTION: Upon motion duly made and seconded, the COG Board of Directors unanimously approved and adopted Resolution R26-2012, accepting the "Region Forward 2012 Baseline Report."

8. ECONOMIC GROWTH AND COMPETITIVENESS: LEARNING SESSION – INDUSTRY LEADERS

The Board's fourth learning session in its Economic Growth and Competitiveness initiative featured a panel of industry leaders from across the National Capital Region who discussed opportunities for growth in their respective industries as well as better preparing area residents for jobs in popular and emerging fields. The panelists were Michael Knapp, CEO and President of Orion BioStrategies, Inc., Robert Templin, President of Northern Virginia Community College (NOVA), Bruce Gudenberg, Vice President of Partnerships and Alliance, Destination DC, and Sarah Oldmixon, Director of Workforce Initiatives for The Community Foundation for the National Capital Region.

From the biotech industry perspective, Michael Knapp highlighted the region's assets: billions annually invested in federal research, the most educated regional workforce in the U.S., and the home of some of the world's largest private equity and venture capital firms. He noted, similar to speakers in previous COG sessions, the region's need to better commercialize the research coming out of area universities and federal research facilities.

Knapp said the region needs to create an economic environment that leverages its research assets by increasing entrepreneurship and early stage investment. To achieve this, he recommended greater public and private sector cooperation. He urged area governments to coordinate with the private sector to develop three regional projects in D.C., Maryland, and Virginia so that each jurisdiction would strengthen its position as a leader in a distinct industry. For a more ambitious goal, Knapp recommended the development of public/private models to encourage early stage new business investment.

According to NOVA President Robert Templin, community colleges are focused on understanding where economic growth will be and making sure the workforce is educated and trained for key job fields. He said the fastest growing sector is comprised of science, technical, and professional services jobs. Upcoming retirements will create half of the region's future job vacancies, while the other half will be generated by modest economic growth.

Templin noted that frontline, tech-savvy workers are in great demand. He said as many as five technicians are needed to support the work of every scientist or engineer. Templin stressed the value of partnership between colleges and industries in order to teach students essential skills in a real world environment and counsel students interested in math and science.

Bruce Gudenberg discussed tourism's impact on the D.C.—and regional—economy. He said in 2011, D.C. welcomed 17.9 million tourists, which topped the pre-9/11 record number. Gudenberg noted that the share of international tourists has been increasing and now makes up 10% of all tourists. He said these tourists tend to stay longer and spend more money than domestic tourists. Gudenberg also pointed out that the hospitality industry is the second largest regional employer, accounting for over 76,000 jobs in restaurants, hotels, and other tourism-related merchants.

Sarah Oldmixon said workforce development systems throughout metropolitan Washington need more consistent quality and would benefit from greater regional coordination. She stressed the importance of employer engagement, data-driven investments, and the creation of career pathways for workers to gain skills and move up within an organization. She said it was essential for workforce development programs to target growing industries and create partnerships with employers who could provide mentors and real world experience for workers. Oldmixon noted some workers will need more than technical skills to succeed in the workplace. She said effective programs combine technical job training with literacy training and other skills.

Board members asked the panelists a variety of questions on how the region can support tourism, cultivate more PhD programs, and prepare its young people for jobs in technology and science. Gudenberg said area tourism organizations work together to promote D.C. and the region as a whole and agreed to meet with officials from suburban communities to strengthen this partnership. Knapp said in Maryland the university system was beginning to realign itself to improve its statewide presence. Universities are planning to establish more programs near major research facilities and will use technology to enable virtual learning.

To better equip young people—especially low-income youth—with job skills and experience, Oldmixon emphasized the importance of mentoring and internship programs, such as YearUp, which provides students with hands-on skill development, college credits, and corporate internships. Templin noted the Pathway to the Baccalaureate Program at NOVA has improved college access, success, and completion for at-risk students. He noted that through their support of the program, area businesses are investing in the development of their own future, highly skilled workforce.

Following comments from Board members, Chairman Principi expressed the Board’s appreciation to the panelists for their informative contributions to the discussion on opportunities for economic growth and competitiveness in their respective industries and their comments on the role for an organization like COG to help promote economic growth and competitiveness in the region.

AGENDA ITEM #7

2011 REGIONAL CRIME REPORT

2011 Annual Report on Crime & Crime Control

Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments

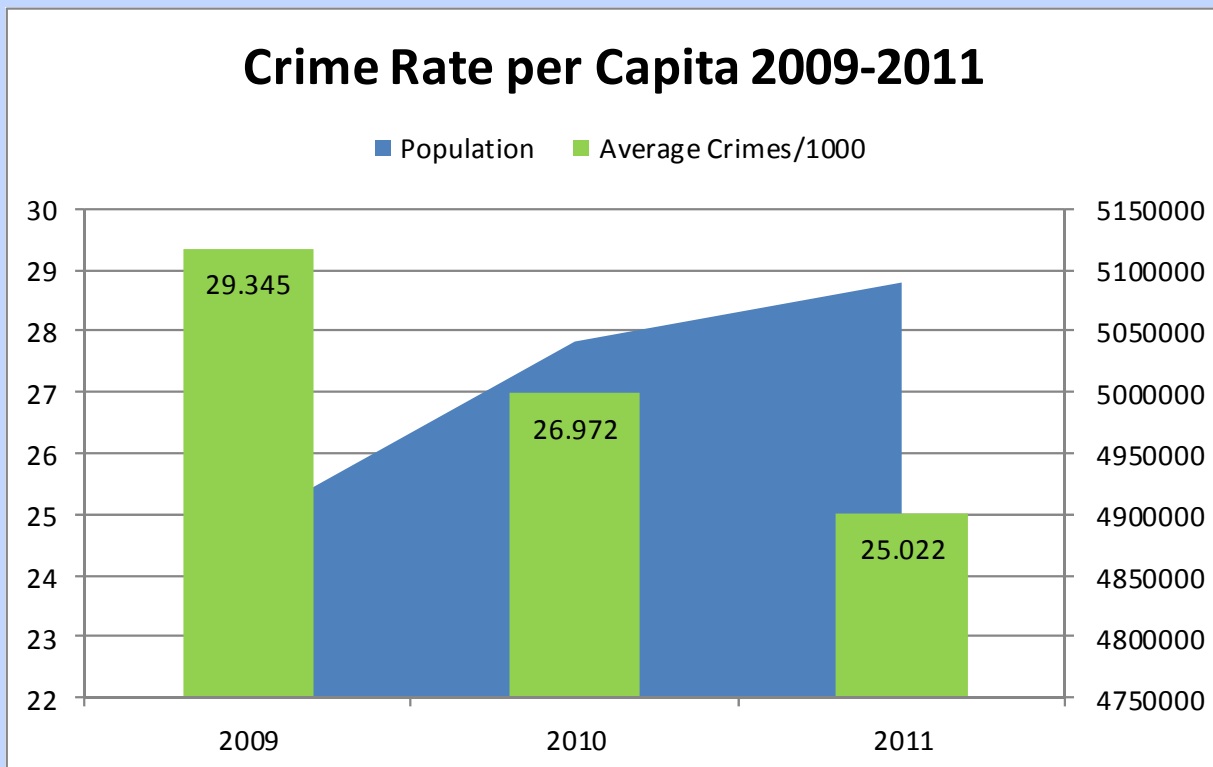

Overview: 2011

The Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments' (MWCOG) annual crime report is based on crime incidents reported by participating agencies in the metropolitan region. The 2011 Annual Report on Crime and Crime Control focuses on Part I offenses as defined by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. This includes crimes against the person: homicide, rape, robbery, and aggravated assault, and crimes against property: burglary, larceny, and motor vehicle theft. In 2011, the metropolitan Washington region experienced another decline in Part I crime, recording 127,349 offenses versus 135,974 offenses in 2010 (-6.3%).

In 2011, all Part I categories experienced a decline. Crimes against the person were down 9.7% overall (15,845 vs. 17,550), fueled by a 13.4% decrease in homicides and an 10.9% decrease in aggravated assaults. There was an overall 5.8% reduction in crimes against property, as a result of a 10.5% and 10.3% decline in motor vehicle thefts and burglaries, respectively.

Metropolitan Washington continues to report favorable five-year trends in overall Part I offenses. Since 2007, the region has witnessed an overall 16.5% decline in Part I crime, driven primarily by significant reductions in motor vehicle theft (-45.6%), homicide (-38.1%), aggravated assault (-23.8%), and robbery (-20.4%). Furthermore, despite a slight population increase and a rise in calls for service, the crime rate per capita decreased from 26.972 crimes per 1000 people to 25.022 crimes.

While the crime rate is commonly accepted as a basic indicator of overall crime trends, crime statistics must be viewed in context with environmental influences. Factors such as changes in reporting rates, demographics, the economy, legislation, and changes in police policies and resources can all have an influence on the number of crimes reported.

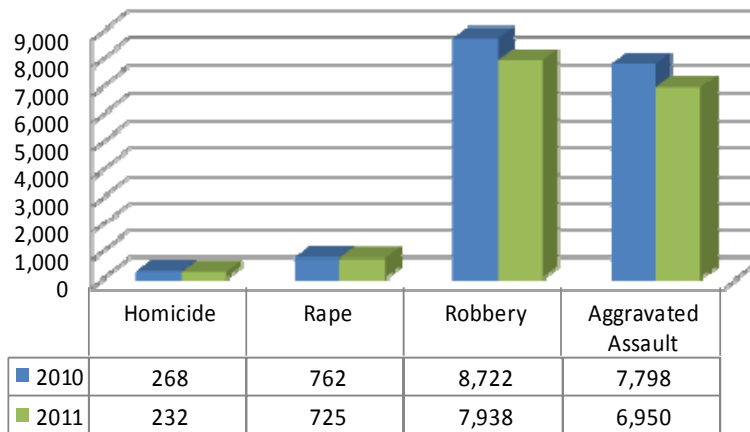

Crime Trends

While the region's current year and five-year trends are positive and encouraging, law enforcement and elected officials should be mindful of the increasing population in metropolitan Washington and the challenges that will present. Currently, over 5 million people live in the Washington metropolitan area and a significant tourist population is not accounted for in this data. Officers responded to over 3.3 million calls for service in 2011 and made nearly 25,000 arrests. This could not be accomplished without the ever-increasing cooperation and coordination between the local, state, and federal agencies, as well as collaboration with the community and other organizations, including the court system, nonprofits, and the military.

Property Crime 2010 v. 2011

Violent Crime 2010 v. 2011

In a region where crime occurs irrespective of boundaries and is increasingly multi-jurisdictional, a major factor in the reduction of crime has been the cooperation between law enforcement agencies. Local, state, and federal agencies have continued to share information through the National Capital Region Law Enforcement Information Exchange (NCR LInX), regional databases, and distribution lists. Through these information sharing networks, law enforcement has been able to identify suspects and solve cases throughout the metropolitan area. For example, law enforcement officers in Northern Virginia were able to link ballistic evidence from shootings at the Pentagon, the National Museum of the Marine Corps, and two other federal buildings to the same weapon. The suspect was later apprehended after triggering a terror scare at Arlington National Cemetery and the Pentagon, resulting in a combined apprehension effort by local and federal law enforcement.

Across the region, in an effort to safeguard its nearly 1.2 million riders, the Metro Transit Police Department has engaged many of the local police departments in several proactive, collaborative efforts. Both Operation Rail Safe and Blue TIDE create a high visibility presence of law enforcement personnel on the transit system for the purpose of detecting, deterring, and disrupting possible terrorist and criminal activity. The operations also create a safe transit environment for commuters.

Partnerships with other agencies are yet another way that police departments work to proactively increase public safety. In 2011, a partnership between the DC Metropolitan Police Department, the Court Services and Offender Supervision Agency, and the DC Superior Court, among others, took nearly 800 individuals with outstanding bench warrants off the street, reducing risk in the local community and allowing police to focus on more violent offenders.

Crime prevention through educational initiatives continues to be a major influence in the reduction of crime in the metropolitan area. Many departments continue to support the See Something, Say Something campaign. This campaign is designed to influence people, through audible recordings and highly visible posters and message boards to report suspicious or questionable activity to local officials. The program encourages vigilance and makes crime prevention everyone's responsibility.

Policing in an Urban Environment:

In 2011, Montgomery County Police Department converted to an urban policing model in their central business districts. This model varies patrol methods with officers in cars, bicycles, and on foot patrol. This model has resulted in a reduction in the violent crime rate and will be expanded to all central business districts within the County.

Although this data represents good news and a certain amount of success, law enforcement officials and elected leaders should be cautious about celebrating the reductions that have occurred. With the upcoming Presidential election, the expansion of Metro in Virginia, and ongoing reductions in state and federal funding, law enforcement agencies must continue to think creatively and strategically and employ intelligence-led policing solutions. Law enforcement strives to be proactive, rather than reactive. The goal is to arm officers with information that enables them to know in advance the situations they are entering, to quickly resolve crimes, and to make timely decisions based on real-time information. This will allow law enforcement to continue improving community relations by providing more transparency and flow of information, while also ensuring security and safety.

Street Smart Campaign:

Street Smart is a public education campaign in the Washington, DC, Suburban Maryland, and Northern Virginia area aimed at building safer streets and sidewalks, enforcing laws, and training better drivers, cyclists, and pedestrians. During Street Smart, law enforcement puts an added emphasis on enforcing existing laws regarding roadway safety. In the fall 2010 and spring 2011 campaigns, participating agencies issued 4,220 citations and 3,785 warnings to motorists, pedestrians and cyclists. Recommendations

2011 Violent Crime v. Property Crime
(Total Part I Offenses = 127,349)

Law enforcement agencies must continue to look forward and plan for the future. The challenges and expectations regarding the way police perform their duties and the circumstances under which police work is done have become more demanding. The economic downturn has left departments with fewer resources than they had five years ago. Technological advancements will continue to increase social vulnerability and provide criminals with new methods and opportunities; law enforcement will continue to use technology to stop them, but will be limited by funding, legislation, and policies. It is critical that departments continue to engage their communities in prevention and awareness, while balancing resources to respond to and investigate incidents that do occur. This can be accomplished through intelligence-led policing solutions, which will provide law enforcement with an operational strategy built around timely and accurate data collection, mapping techniques, and analysis of data to identify the nexus of crime and traffic safety, thereby reducing social harm and improving the quality of life within local communities.

Calls for Service & Sworn Officers

How You Can Help

For Elected Officials

- Continue working together to develop effective crime policy and legislation from a multifaceted, multijurisdictional, evidence-led approach.
- Effective crime policy should include the local citizens, academics, courts, doctors, teachers, and other practitioners, such as probation and parole officers, mental health and social workers, and law enforcement.
- Focus resources on those policies and practices that have the greatest return on investment and proven record of success, based on empirical evidence generated from sound research.

For Residents

- Beware of scams that ask for your personal information, such as your social security number, account numbers, or PIN. If a deal sounds too good to be true, it probably is.
- Make your vehicle unattractive to criminals: park in well-lit areas. Lock the doors at ALL times. Never leave keys in your vehicle and do not leave your vehicle running unattended. Take the extra time to physically remove your valuables (GPS, CDs, radio, purse/briefcase, etc.). Clean the GPS suction cup circle off your window.
- Make your home unattractive to criminals: never leave keys under doormats, flowerpots, or other “secret” hiding places.
- Keep your garage door closed and locked. Make it look occupied if you are going to be away. Keep a detailed inventory of your valuable possessions, including serial numbers, description, and original value. Mark electronics and other valuables with identifying information, which makes it harder for criminals to dispose of the goods and easier for police to recover.
- Encourage the formation of Neighborhood Watch programs or patrols. Participate and stay informed of what’s happening in your community.
- Maintain awareness of your surroundings when out in public, especially while using your smart phones and other electronics.
- Teach your children about “stranger danger.”
- If you see something, say something. Report any and all suspicious activity.
