10:30 A.M. 3. REGIONAL CLIMATE AND ENERGY ACTION PLANNING
Janna Schonfeld, European Union
Ryan Glancy, International Urban Cooperation
Alexan Stulc, BuroHappold Engineering
Maia Davis, COG Environmental Programs

Metropolitan Washington is one of four U.S. regions being recognized by Global Covenant of Mayors (GCoM) as a U.S. Metro-Scale Climate Leader. The recognition comes with guidance and technical support for the development of CEEPC's 2030 Regional Climate and Energy Action Plan. Panelists will review EU in the US climate diplomacy initiatives; GCoM Reporting Framework and what it would mean for CEEPC to become a GCoM signatory; and review the scope and timeline for the 2030 Regional Climate and Energy Action plan development.

Recommended Action: Receive briefing. Approve regional GCoM commitment.

11:30 A.M. 4. REGULATORY UPDATES
Steve Walz, COG Director of Environmental Programs

CEEPC will be briefed on proposed climate-related state and federal rules/regulations and asked to approve comment letters.

Recommended Action: Discuss and approve comment letters.

11:45 A.M. 4. PROPOSED TCI LOW-CARBON TRANSPORTATION POLICY

Joe Kruger, Georgetown Climate Center

The Transportation Climate Initiative (TCI), led by the Georgetown Climate Center (GCC), is a regional collaboration of northeast and mid-Atlantic states and the District of Columbia that seek to reduce carbon emissions from the transportation sector. TCI jurisdictions have been working to develop a regional low-carbon transportation policy by the end of 2019. Later this fall, specific regional policy options will be published for public input.

Recommended Action: Receive briefing.

12:00 P.M. 5. COMMITTEE PHOTOS AND ADJOURN

CEEPC members will be asked to gather in the center of the Board Room for a committee photo. Lunch will be available in the Board Room Lounge.

On November 20 - 21, 2019, CEEPC will host mitigation and adaptation work sessions to support the development of the 2030 Regional Climate and Energy Action Plan.
