Background on Transit Within Reach Program

- New Program / First Round
- Supports and promotes TPB aspirations to improve Bike and Walk Access to Transit
- Goal to move small, high-impact projects into preliminary design or preliminary engineering (up to 30 percent)
- Program funded by UPWP Technical Assistance Regional Transit Technical Assistance Account

Solicitation

- $250,000 contributed for first round (FY 2022/3)
- Application solicitation period May 3 to July 1, 2021
 - Optional Abstracts due May 18
- 6 applications were received, $474,000 in funding requests
- Short-term consultant services, not direct financial assistance
- Projects to be completed in late 2022/early 2023
- Solicitation to be repeated every other year

Program Priorities

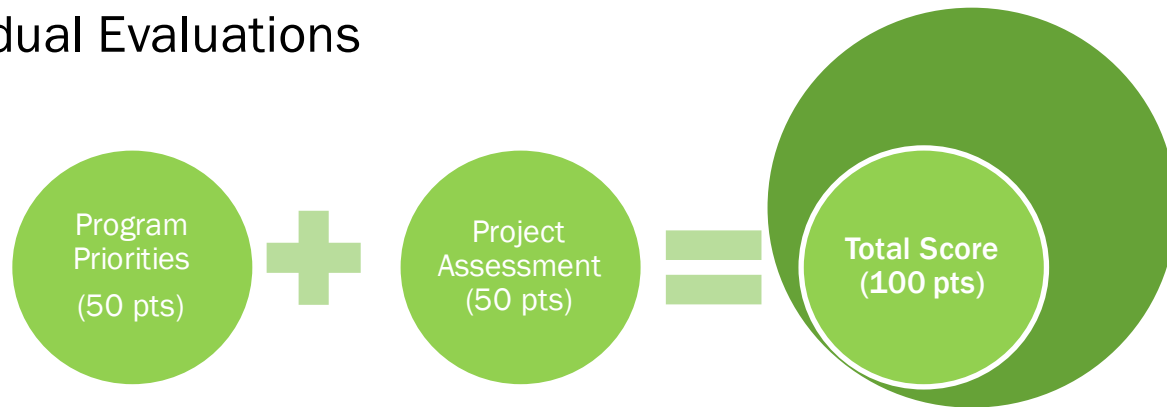

Seeking preliminary design and engineering projects that:

1. Improve bike/ped access to High-Capacity Transit, in particular, to our Transit Access Focus Areas
2. Increase transit ridership and/or utilize available ridership capacity
3. Improve access for low-income and communities of color
4. Demonstrate collaboration with other agencies or jurisdictions
5. Demonstrate strategies to advance project to construction

Selection

- Selection Panel
 - Chair of Regional Public Transportation Subcommittee
 - Chair of Bicycle and Pedestrian Subcommittee
 - 3 TPB Staff
- Individual Evaluations

- Consensus Building Meeting – Seek balance among projects (transit modes, regional balance, equity)

Overview of Recommendations

- 3 applications recommended for funding:
 - In Transit Access Focus Areas and improve bike/ped access to high-capacity transit
 - Support access improvements that will increase transit ridership and/or utilization of available ridership capacity
 - Improve access for low-income communities and communities of color; 2 projects are within Equity Emphasis Area;
 - Demonstrate strategies to advance project to construction
- 2 commuter rail projects; 1 Metrorail project
- 2 projects are from Maryland jurisdictions and 1 project is from Virginia jurisdictions
