Express Export

A user will be prompted to enter the start and end date of the desired survey data. A blank value for either the start or end date will be treated as an open range.

The user can select one or many jurisdictions that fall within the survey date range.

A toggle is also included for cases where survey data may exist for a jurisdiction but may not have a date.

A user may choose to select this option if this is the case.

Clicking “Download records” will push the excel document to the user’s browser without a page refresh. The user may choose to change the query parameters and re-download the records as needed.
