

School Recycling Workshop

Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments
777 North Capitol Street, NE
Board Room
Washington, DC 20002
10:00 a.m. – 1:30 p.m.
July 17, 2008

By beginning large-scale recycling programs in schools, recycling will become a habit for young people and they will be more likely to recycle as adults. The VRA sees recycling in schools as an opportunity to expose all children to the act of recycling.

Join the VRA as we discuss the advantages of school recycling programs and the technical training on how to start recycling in your school system. This information can benefit, teachers, administrators, school boards, boards of supervisors and waste management departments.
